CELEBRATE VIRTUALLY

A holiday party is a great way to celebrate the year that has passed and it's an opportunity to spend quality time together outside of a work setting. Rather than skip it this year when it's needed more than ever—bring it online! Also, be sure to make space for everyone's faith, traditions, and heritage!

GOAL SETTING AND PERSONAL GROWTH

With a new year right around the corner, help your team reflect on the past year and look forward to the year that is coming. Running a reflection/goal setting workshop is a quick, easy, and productive activity for everyone.

LOOK FOR WAYS TO GIVE BACK AND SERVE

Look for a way to live up to company values and give back around the holidays. Maybe it's a company fundraiser, or a canned food drive, or a chance to share skills with your community.

FIND WAYS TO SHOW APPRECIATION

There are plenty of ways to show appreciation whether it's a handwritten messages, a bit of extra time off, a light-hearted "office awards" ceremony, or the obvious "holiday bonus." Do whatever is possible and fits your people best!

CONNECT ABOUT LIFE BEYOND WORK

One of the most exciting and intimate new ways to connect with your team about work and everything beyond is Voodle: A 60-second async video communication platform. Start a holiday traditions, decorations, or feast channel and watch the holiday magic unfold in easy to use video form.
