Five Ways to be more productive in the field with Voodle

Gone are the old ways of explaining to your team how you conducted that awesome demo AGAIN. Get everyone (+ new reps) up to speed with a video stream of tenured tips to help sell more and get your product placed right.

We all want HQ to know what's really going on in the field and another meeting update doesn't always cut it. Share real time video updates of what's actually happening on the floor.

Keep Stores In The Loop Between Visits

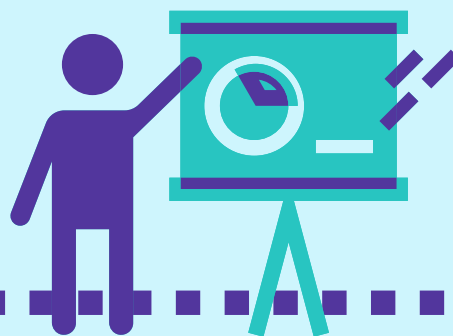

Need to share details on the product release but your next visit isn't for 4 more weeks? Use our public video feature My Voodles to share a quick mini training with your stores so they can sell more now.

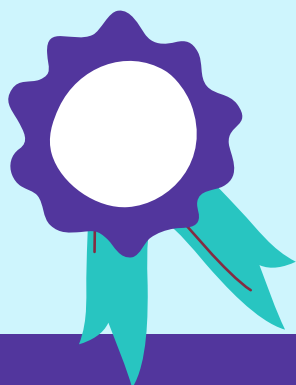

Tired of jumping on another call to go over a new product release? Create a voodle video stream with training videos. Everyone can watch on their own time, add to the conversation with questions, and insert their own tips. WIN.
